

A few notes on the fundamental debate

This compilation of articles and statements was compiled in 2002/2003 and has since been published on the website of the publishing house Grundlagen & Praxis.

Since 2018 the publishing house unfortunately no longer exists and since then this important debate on the foundations of homeopathy and pluralism in homeopathy has not been open to the public. Now it has been published again on the website of the Materia medica pura project. The editors would like to express their sincere thanks for this.

February 2020

Dr. Klaus Habich